BERLIN (CP)-Soviet Premier Khrushchev, playing the role of a mild, earnest seeker for peace, arrived in East Berlin today promising to do all possible for a new summit conference in six to eight months new summit conference in six to eight months.

Gone were the threats, the angry outbursts and the tirades of the last days in Paris.

The Russian leader refrained from any threats against West Berlin. When he spoke of a new summit, he did not couple it with his Paris demand for an apology from the United States for the U-2 incident.

He declared that the Soviet Union did not plan to change its policy of seeking "peaceful coexistence" with the capitalist world.

But, he said, Russia would threat to eight months.

Khrushchev, in a speech at radies of East Berlin, said:

"We need time for the situation will do all possible to see that a summit conference takes place and comes to a useful conclusion."

It was too soon to deduce whether this means any change in Russian policy since the breakup of the summit meeting. Mr. Thomson said this could have been caused by ejection of the pressurized cabin with its "dummy" pilot. However, he said this capsule would be too small to show up on a picture.

The general impression here is that the United States will react as vigorously in defending President Chiang Kaishek's government as it did during the 1958 attack on off-shore islands.

On the photograph, the satellite and the rocket carrier appear like two faint stars. The observatory was able to distinguish the two pinpoints of light from other stars because it knew the orbit of the space ship.

Out of the Ruins

IN A NEW WORLD SITUATION, probably the most dangerous ever known, all the calculations of free governments and free men will have to be revised.

No one can foresee the end of the consequences flowing from the tragedy of Paris, Mr. Khrushchev's histrionic masterpiece. They must be profound, even if a worse crisis is avoided, and must affect the defences, the economies, the finances and the private life of the entire West.

But already one fact is clear and imperative: As the human future rides on a knife's edge the free world must unite or perish. In unity lies our only hope of discouraging that sudden reversal of policy and plunge into screaming lunacy which Mr. Khrushchev executed, for his own mysterious reasons, even before the Summit meeting could begin.

The blunders of American management, the fiasco of the spy plane, the tortured and contradictory official statements from Washington deserve and no doubt will have full and calm investigation. The American people will know how to deal with those responsible. These things belong, however, to an era which died at Paris. The energies of the free world must be concentrated on the new era then Repeating the mistake of Stalin, his predecessor, Mr. Khrushchev probably hopes that his threats will split the West, that the allies of a shaken American Government will turn on it in anger, that he can divide and conquer.

Already he has begun to see that he is wrong, as Stalin was. Undoubtedly the leaders of the British and French Governments are appalled by affairs in Washington but they rallied instantly to Eisenhower's support knowing, in Ben Franklin's phrase, that we must all hang together or hang

Now begins a new test of strong nerves and cool heads. Mr. Khrushchev-himself facing a new situa-tion in the dark politics of the Communist world-intends to feel out the unity of the West, to probe for weak spots, probably to precipitate a new crisis in Berlin when he thinks the time is ripe. The pur-pose of Western statesmanship must be to show him, first, that he cannot divide the West and, second, the West has no aggressive intentions anwyhere. But this will not be enough.

In a grim fashion we have to thank Mr. Khrushchev for over-playing his hand and, in a speech of only forty minutes, showing the West that its whole approach to the world struggle has been inadequate, unrealistic and too easy.

The free peoples have long imagined that they could live comfortably and safely with ever-ris-ing standards of life, in a world where the great majority of man-of the Summit will doubtless be expensive but relatively simple. The much greater challenge to the West lies in its ability, now that the fool's paradise has been shattered. to concert its resources, build up its out to be exactly an occasion for such economic strength and, on a massive new scale, to share its wealth under-privileged peoples who are the Communists' real target. Like an alarm bell, the tragedy of Paris tells us what we should have known before, that the easy-going methods of the West during the last ten years cannot hope to win the world. In a struggle to be measured not in years nor in a few personalities but in generations, we must re-assess all our plans, hopes and illusions.

Strong nerves and cool heads must be reinforced by a new willingness to accept real sacrifices which, in America anyway, have been avoided so far under the impression that time and events were on our side. Clearly they are

When Franklin Roosevelt said that his generation had a rendez-vous with destiny he was speaking of an economic crisis within his own country. Today's rendezvous is something incomparably larger, harder and longer, and it involves the future of the whole human race. With unconscious candor, Mr. Khrushchev has told us so.

This fallacy should have been finally punctured at Paris.

The thing is so deadly, in fact, that if we were more affectionate toward Mr. Khrushchev we would warn him against it while there is yet time. But until the work-week becomes only a let him find out for himself, as we brief, irritating interruption between have done in North America. It serves those moments of speed, foam and

All the lessons of history have not All the lessons of history have not changed Mr. Khrushchev but a speed-beat will change him. It changes everybody. Once in a speedboat of his own, the hardest-headed American executive, the most learned scholar, the most mature and mild-mannered professional man becomes a reckless boy, a mere child, a harmless appendage and extra gear to an internal combustion engine and, in short, an innocent maniac.

So we can see what is going to happen to poor Mr. K. His public eye may be on military power, his public tongue busy with Marxian dialectics, but his private eye will be on the horse-power of that monster in the boat house, his private tongue prattling of speed, gasoline consumption and mechanical revolutions per minute, the great human revolution forgotten.

His mind may seem to be on his work all week but in the very moment of critical decision it will be straying to the weekend and the lake. The cold war will hardly seem worth-ecstasy.

Many learned books have been written about the problems of the free enterprise system in America and the success of Communism, but they all miss the point. The truth, I am con-vinced, is that Russia has leaped ahead economically and militarily because it is not distracted by speedboats. THE hand of America, however, has faltered on the levers of the eco-nomic machine because it is tired and shaky every Monday morning after two days of vibration at the steering wheel. Will Rogers used to say that his country will Rogers used to say that his country was the first to approach the poor house in an automobile. The vehicle only, not the principle, has changed.

But Mr. Eisenhower's new-fangled-Trojan horse cannot stop with Mr. Khrushchev. As has always happened here, he won't rest until he has made his colleagues and the nation speedboat-conscious, or unconscious preferably. conscious, or unconscious preferably. The new vice is never satisfactorily practised in solitude but requires competition to prove that one speedboat is faster than another, its owner more skilful, daring and rich.

Thus that dreaded capitalistic infecduced into Communism and will grow as Mr. Khrushchev demands a still faster conveyance, his rivals buy bigger engines, the whole Communist organization is split and pretty soon the Five-Year Plan itself is disrupted by con-centration on speedboats instead of tractors.

ONCE this process gets well under way all military planning will be wrecked, the missile factories idle will be the speedboat factories work overtime and Russia's whole attention is diverted from high-flying foreign planes to low-

The end is inevitable. One of these days Mr. Khrushchev, having won the grand speed prize, will announce that a long-forgotten Russian invented the a long-lorgotten Russian invented the speedboat centuries ago. Probably Mr. Eisenhower expects that culmination of his diabolic strategy and is prepared, for the sake of peace, to acknowledge the Russian claim. Certainly no Canadian will deny it if he has spent a summer on a Canadian take amid the modern din, froth and fumes.

Uses of Hypnosis

I recently heard a lecture by Dr. Sey-mour Herschman of Chicago, who is an expert on the subject of hypnotism. He discussed the subject with what sounded to me like much good sense. He said, in the first place, that the hypnotized person is not asleep. He is really awake, but he has closed his eyes and lears to outside distractions. Accordingly, Dr. Herschman thinks he can concentrate better on what is being told him than a normal person. An electroencephalogram, which consists of the tiny electric currents con-stantly forming in the brain, will show stantly forming in the brain, will show that the man is not asleep. He may seem drowsy and dreamy, but he can feel, and he can sense everything going on about him.

There is no absolute surrender of his will. He will accept only those orders which he is willing to carry out. According to Dr. Herschman, the hypnotist cannot make people do anything they don't want to do-commit a criminal act for example. For good hypnosis, the patient must co-operate with the doctor. Actually, Dr. Herschman says that a person who wants to derive much help from hypnotism should learn by repeated ex-perience how to go into the hypnotic state. Eventually, a man can get good at it, and He need never fear that his mind will be weakened by it. Also, a hypnotized per-son will not give away secrets. There need be no fear that the person won't wake up after a hypnotic trance. Dr. Herschman has gathered records of over half a million hypnotic experiences, and in no case was the patient unable to wake up when told to douthis. Dr. Herschman feels that there is no danger in hypnosis, but he doesn't like to see it carried out on a stage for the amusement of an audience.

The doctor thinks there are several main uses for hypnosis. One is for the alleviation of fear and apprehensions: another is for the control of pain. About a hundred years ago in India, Dr. Esdaile reported having performed 300 operations on people whom he had put into hypnotic state. Nowadays hypnosis is being used in some operations. It enables the anesthetist to give less ether. Also, the patient "goes under" with less apprehension and fear. This is good in cases of children.

Dr. Herschman feels that hypnotic anesthesia is something like that which all of us have toward our wrist-watch or our rings, the glasses on our nose, or the plates in our mouth. We don't feel them at all; we don't even know if they are there.

The doctor says one can quickly teach 95 per cent of persons to feel what is called a glove area of anesthesia, which includes the whole hand and wrist. Later, one can teach the person to feel anesthesia in larger areas. In the cases of women in labor, when hypnotized they can get by with half the usual amount of anesthesia.

Hypnotism can be used in helping people to overcome a bad habit, such as heavy smoking, over-eating, wetting the bed, stut-tering, grinding the teeth, or having tics or habit spasms. Some of these persons can be helped.

Sometimes a person with an ulcer of the stomach can be helped. With hypnotism one can teach people to relax better. With hypnotism, a tense person may be able to get along each day with only half his usual dosage of tranquilizers. Obviously, with a person in a hypnotic trace, the doctor can give strong suggestions. Hypnosis can be used in psychiatry, in those cases in which an experienced psychiatrist thinks it might work. Usually, the psychiatrist uses this method in addition to other technics.

Dr. Herschman feels that because there are so many different specialties in which hypnosis can be used, the art ought to be taught by several different specialists working together. He said that there is no way of prophesying which persons will be easy to hypnotize and which won't, but he thinks all but a few people can learn to be Tabloid-size, it has radical differences from the other London dailies.

In the first place, to look at and to read it is monumentally dull.

It carries no "cuts",

(photographs or other illustrative matter) and states that it never intends to. No news story is regarded as worthy of a headline beyond two columns in width and in very subdued type.

Result is that it has the look of those early news-sheets of the 18th century.

Its reviews of films, plays and novels are announced as different from those of other papers in that it "will not give the game away by revealing the plots" and first

Reason for the latter innovation is that The New Daily feels that for a drama critic to get his review in the following day's paper means a rush job and their critics will have a whole day to mull things over.

The masthead slogan gives the key to who is behind the venture—"The Only Daily Newspaper in Great Britain Independent of Combines and Trade Unions."

Boss man and editor is 51-year-old Edward Martell, mainspring of the People's League for the Defence of Freedom, one of the chief occupations of which consists of attempts at strike-breaking.

During the last bus strike the league bought 80 buses and operated them free to the public in an effort to short-circuit the strikers.

Alming at a 150,000 circulation and backed mainly by the 60,000 members of the Freedom League. The New Daily announces as its policy that it is opposed to "the tyrannies of the trade union movement and not the movement itself."

Milk is our most nearly perfect food. Protein of high quality, calcium and riboflavin (vitamin B2) are all supplied by our fresh B.C. milk. Milk packs a wealth of nourishment into every glass . . . there's no waste . . . and the cost is low in proportion to food value. Serve B.C. milk to your family every day.

AN IMPORTANT B.C. INDUSTRY The dairy farmers of British Columbia are independent business men striving to give you the finest dairy products at the lowest possible prices. Dairying contributes over $36,000,000 a year to our economy but the importance of the dairy farmers cannot be measured in dollars alone. Dairying is a most essential industry and our B.C. dairy products are among the best in the world.

We never outgrow our need for the calcium, protein and phosphorus that milk provides in our diet. Everyone needs milk every day - adole at least 1½ pints, younger children, at least a pint and adults, at least ½ a pint. Nowadays, with a comple array of milk products in all large food stores, dairy foods help a lot to make eating and cooking more fun.

Apricot Milk Shake

Mix equal parts of chilled milk and apricot nectar or apple-cot in a pitcher of thermos. Leave a couple of inches of space. Fill with small chunks of ice-cream. Cover and leave in refrigerator or cork thermos. In about an hour you'll have a delicious milk shake ready to serve.

Apple Tart

Place apple eighths in unbaked pie shell. Lap the apple pieces so that apples cover crust to a depth of about 1/2 an inch. Sprinkle with sugar (and spice, if desired). Bake in hot oven until crust browns. Turn down heat to 350° and continue baking until apples are tender. Swirl sour cream over hot apples and place pie under broiler for 5 minutes.

Note: Sour cream makes a delicious glazed topping on many foods. Try it on fish, chicken, fruit pies, vegetables. Just cook until food is ready to eat but not overcooked. Coat with sour cream and broil.

Cooking with evaporated milk

When recipes call for milk, you can use half the amount of B.C. evaporated milk plus the same amount of water. For coffee, fruit, or cereals, use evaporated milk as it comes from the can. B.C. evaporated milk comes in two convenient sizes. One of them will be just right for your family.

JOE LOOKS AT MOVIES: SAYS IT'S FLOYD BY KO

NEWTOWN, Conn. (AP)—After spending two days in Floyd Patterson's camp, Joe Louis Wednes-day predicted Patterson will knock out world heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson in their return bout June 20.

"It's going to happen somewhere between the seventh and 10th round," said Louis.

Louis made the prediction after he and Patterson studied the movies of last year's Johansson-Patterson fight and after Patterson worked out Wednesday. In last year's fight, Johansson knocked Patterson down seven times in the third round before referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the fight.

Patterson has to go out and take the offensive off this guy," said Conn. "This guy is a good hitter, but not a good fighter. Johansson is an amateur, but I'm going to bet on him again.'

There is no one more qualified to choreograph this fight than Conn. In many ways it resembles his second one with Joe Louis because Conn was knocked out the first time,

"I bet on Johansson the last time," Conn said. "I bet on 38 losers in a row. When I saw this bum bring back his right hand to punch, I said I got another loser. But I win the bet because Patterson can't take it too good."

"What mistake did Patterson make?" Conn asked. "You "What mistake did Patterson make?" Conn asked. "You must be kidding. The mistake he made was letting this amateur hit him with a right hand. Johansson was like an amateur after he hit him. Instead of stepping back and measuring Patterson off, he didn't know what to do after he had him in trouble. He didn't land a good punch after the first one knocked Patterson down. He hit him on the neck and the hadd and all over." and the head and all over."

It is Conn's theory that Patterson allowed Johansson to become confident by his stalling during the first two rounds.

He Must Get Johansson's Respect

"He should have gone right out and let this guy know he was the boss. Patterson never bothered him. He's got to bust right at Johansson and show him he can knock his head off. He must make Johansson respect him. I don't think he can. That's why I'm betting on Johansson again. He's an amateur, but Patterson can't take it so good."

amateur, but Patterson can't take it so good."

People are wrong when they compare Patterson to Conn, the old fighter insists.

"I could take a punch," said the Pittsburgh pub-owner. "Oscar Rankin hit me once in the second round. I got up and beat him, but I didn't come to until the next day. They had to show me a paper before I'd believe I'd won. I thought I had got knocked out."

"If Patterson sticks this guy a few times and hits him a few right hands right away, it could change the fight. Johansson looked fat the last time. How do year know he could go 15 rounds? He never has, has he? But I'm still betting on him. I can't get away from Patterson's chin."

If Conn were advising Patterson, he would tell him to

"He should hit him low off the bat," said Conn. "I'd do thing dirty I could think of. What's the differ It's a tough business, you or him. All they can do is take the round away from you. And I'd cut out that peek-a-boo-stuff and fight like a boss."

Law Beats Cards To Give Bucs Share of Lead

By UP International First It's Friend and then it's Law—and who in Pitt could ask for more?

Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain will have to pardon the parody on that famous refrain of 1948 because it looks like Bob Friend and Vern Law can keep the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League race all the way. The Pirates seemed on the verge of collapse only two weeks ago, but today they've tied San Francisco for first place on the strength of seven victories in eight games.
Friend and _aw have accounted for four of those seven victories and have two of the gaudiest records in the league. Friend is 51 with a 2.22 earned run average and Law is 61 Northwest International Baseball League.

Suppose It Were Yours ... for an F

Imagine yourself, for a moment, faced with this happy prospect.

Where would you go? What would you do? Well, we'll wager you'd make some very special plans for the sixty minutes ahead.

For the car that stands in wait so majestically in the soft light of the evening is a new 1960 Cadillac. And the promise of an hour at its wheel is an enchanting opportunity indeed.

But no matter where the highway might lead you, we know what your journey would be like. First of all, it would be filled with the most wonderful comfort imaginable. You would be literally surrounded by beauty and luxury and spaciousness-with every conceivable motoring convenience in constant attendance.

You would feel marvellously rested and relaxed. For this great car is incredibly easy to drive ... and it is miraculously quiet in operation.

And how proud and thrilled you'd be! For it's a remarkable experience to sit here where the world's distinguished motorists ride-and find yourself heir to the glances of admiration that inevitably come a Cadillac's way.

A pleasant daydream, you say? Not at all. In fact, the reality is no farther away than your nearest Cadillac dealer's showroom.

He has the car and he has the keys-and if you have an hour's time and a special destination in mind, then you ought to get together with him very soon.

When your journey's done, he'll be happy to explain how easily your favorite Cadillac can be yours for all the hours ahead.

Wouldn't tomorrow be a good day to introduce yourself to the "car of cars"?

Delicate Glass and China Safe With Newest Sponge By PENNY SAVER

Household sponges are best shopping news this week. New in, they are encased in synthetic fibre mesh and are so gentle that they can be used on the most delicate glassware or china without risk df scratching. Hard-working sponges will clean the grimlest pots or pans, doing an excellent job and leaving no rusty metal splinters.

Built-in cleaner eliminates need of soap or detergent. Sponges are long-wearing, and wilt outlast many conventional types. They're ideal for cleaning car bumpers, whitewall tires, windshields and metal on doors and windows of family car. They will make bathroom fixtures gleam—in fact, their uses

Price of these miracle workers is 39 cents.

If you have small children in the family and are looking for toys that will keep them amused I suggest you take a peak at giant-sized golf club and ball that sells for 98 cents. Golf at gant-size goir club and ball that sells for 98 cents. Gett club is of unbreakable polythene and comes in color combinations of orange and yellow or solid yellow. All have non-slip handles. Giant-sized ball is a reproduction of the real thing with one big difference—it can do far less damage! Your young son will feel just as proud as his Dad when he makes a hole-in-one with his very own club!

Grease marks on top of your gleaming stove can be cut to a minimum if you have one of the colorful ceramic spoon drips I saw this week.

These are so attractive that many women use them as kitchen plaques. Each has a perky combed rooster strutting across its striped surface. Stripes came in four color combinations, pink and charcoal, green and tan, yellow and brown and blue and mauve. All are priced at 35 cents.

HAMBURG-Laughter goes right on in Europe despite the spy-in-the-sky headlines, and Mr. K's outbursts. The B.W. and I went to see Hamburg's wicked night life. And the Reeperbahn is torrid—with open vice seen on that street or its neighborhood like nothing I've seen except in Beirut and, in the old days, Butte, Mont. The strip-teasers just get started here where 52nd Street strip queens finish.

And there aren't many Americans evident here now, Japanese, yes, but the GI's have cleared out, leaving the dives to the tough sailors who come in on the big ships.

But Hamburg on the Elbe, despite its glowering statue of Bismarck, had unexpected beauty. What was it laughing about?

However, in the bird world this is great order of perchips birds, not so. Let's trace the family tree of the American robin, redbreast and see why.

All birds, Mr. Robin included, belong to the animal class Aves. In order to qualify, a bird must wear feathers. Instead of arms or front happy lark. How Many Species of Birds Are There?

ify, a bird must wear feathers. Instead of arms or front legs, he must have wings. He must walk on only two feet. He must have a beak, no teeth and he must hatch from an egg.

The big Aves class is subdivided into smaller orders, according to certain bird features. The herons, storks and bises are long-necked, long-legged wading birds who be long in the order Ciconiidae—the stork-like ones. Chickens, pheasants and turkeys, all plump birds who scratch for a living, belong in the order pean blackbird, perhaps the Galliformes — meaning the

A little fish has no soft bed or cosy nest in which to sleep. He does not have a den or any time of the close his eyes. If you have a pet goldfish, you will find him wide awake any time you tiptoe downstairs in the middle of the night.

The fact is, fish do not sleep at all. Once in a while, they rest by hovering in the water. But most of the time they swim, swim, swim. In the wide watery oceans, night is the program Closeup tonight.

The secretary was said in a previous announcement by the CBC to earn $70 s week at her job and $100 a night acting as co-respondent in evidence to be used in divorc proceedings.

In Toronto a CBC spokes-man said there is some doubt the show will appear because producer Ross McLean is preparing a more timely program on the summit conference

Mr. McLean said that as far as he is concerned, if the show is replaced by the summit conference program, it would be run May 26 on the next edition of Closeup. He said he had no word from the CBC about cancelling it.

angry outbursts and the titrades of the last days in Paris.

The Russian leader refrained from any threats against West Berlin. When he spoke of a new summit, he did not couple it with his Paris demand for an apology from the United States for the U.2 incident.

He declared that the Soviet Union did not plan to change its policy of seeking "peaceful coexistence" with the capitalist world.

But, he said, Russia would have to confer with other Socialist countries, analyze the situation and "reach the necessary conclusions."

Khrushchev, in a speech at Schoenfeld Airport on the outskirts of East Berlin, said: "We need time for the situation to limprove and in six to eight months, the Soviet Union will do all possible to see that a summit conference takes place and comes to a useful conclusion."

It was too soon to deduce the breakup of the summit meeting. In Paris, on his takeoff for East Berlin, said:

Hundreds of thousands of East Berliners, released from factories, offices and schools, cheered and waved to Khrushchev on his 25-mile trip from East Berlin airport to the residence of East German President Wilhelm Pieck.

He stood in an open car with high East German officials. Their car was escorted through flag-bedecked streets by a 12-man motorcycle escort man leaders may decide to through flag-bedecked streets by a 12-man motorcycle escort and several cars of secret police.

West Berliners, who had seen Khrushchev on four previous visits, said the reception was the biggest he ever has had in Berlin. No anti-Khrushchev incidents were noted.

Gone were the threats, the angry outbursts and the titrades of the last days in Paris.

The Russian leader refrained from any threats against West Berlin When he spoke to a new summit, he did not couple it with his Paris demand for an apology from the United States for the U-2 incident.

He declared that the Soviet Union did not plan to change its policy of seeking "peaceful coexistence" with the capitalist world.

But, he said, Russia would takeoff for East Berlin, Khrushchev, in a speech at Schoenfeld Airport on the outskirts of East Berlin, said:

To the lucky winner and of entertainment and public appearances.

To the lucky winner and with the shattered summit conference would first step to a serious deterioration in world affairs.

This is naturally a moment of disappointment and regret;

Macmillan told reporters at London Airport.

We cannot yet see the pattern of the future but in compressed disappointment and shock at the failure of the conference would people had begun to hope that the summit conference wo
